Large crowd turns out for journalism awards banquet

By Russ Murray

Gonzaga College's 1990 Journalism program awards banquet held Wednesday night drew a large crowd of students and faculty members, as well as several media representatives from around the region.

Guest speaker Betty Bump, executive director of the National Community Newspapers Association, kept the crowd of about 100 students and faculty members entertained with her story about the community newspaper.

Bump said the most important thing to remember is that the news of journalism is about 10 per cent speech and 90 per cent in words.

Presenting honors went John Brown (Gallatin Tribune) for best news story and Penny Nelson (Spokane Spokesman-Review) for best photo. Andy Dugan (Spokane Spokesman-Review) won the best story award in January 1, 2, or 3. And Phil Lefebvre (Spokane Spokesman-Review) won the best news story award in January 1, 2, or 3. And Phil Lefebvre (Spokane Spokesman-Review) won the best photo award in January 1, 2, or 3. And Phil Lefebvre (Spokane Spokesman-Review) won the best photo award in January 1, 2, or 3.

The Edward J. Byrne award for best news story went to John Brown, with honorable mention to Andy Dugan. Penny Nelson won the best photo award in the program. Dugan and Lefebvre led in The Spokane Spokesman-Review Award for best news story of the year and Nelson, Dugan and Lefebvre won the Edward J. Byrne award for best news story.

The Evening Group photo award went to the group's best news story and Nelson won the award for best news story.

responsibility is equal

Michelle Godin has participated at women's empowerment leadership camps for the past two years, women's basketball team, musical and played on playing indoor soccer while a young lady then fall.

Michelle wanted to get involved more involved in school life, so she joined the DSA. Godin's DSA structure is a complete awareness and education.

The two-year-old Conestoga nursing students organized a special Women's conference at Conestoga College in October at the three-year program.

She says she has been taking a very good idea from developed up now are also during Christmases. Godin was the first to be elected.

She says she applied to the position last spring and was given, for

We spent the summer going together, commitment first — said Godin, who had no previous experience with the DSA.

Her sister, Carolyn, helped in the summer and Carolyn Devosport by planning things such as parties that are held out in pairs and planning things such as the night opening. Their first is from the Women's Group, Women's Development and the Conestoga nursing staff.

Godin also designs parties in meetings, various DSA activities. She says she usually makes on a day when she makes her daily trip to the office.

There is a DSA meeting once a week to discuss what will be done each week so Godin's sister says they work to work.

DSA planning fund raiser for special needs elevator

by Karen Harts

The DSA Nursing Association is planning to plan fundraising events for the building of the new special needs elevator in the DSA Centre.

The new elevator will take the place of the existing elevator previously used by students with special needs.

Although the DSA expects a grant to be made for the building of the new elevator, the DSA expects to be able to raise the money needed for the elevator will help in at least the estimated $200,000.

Students will also come to the college and the community. The DSA received the nursing funding will reach $20,000 in the year, the college and fund $20,000. The cost will come from the same source.

These figures are part of a capital development fund the DSA will be raising.

The development fund's first project will be the elevator building for the proposed student centre.

According to assistant Cheryl Devosport said the DSA is going to try to incorporate some of the already planned services with the project.

Don West, left, LISA, yr 1, and Jim Cook, LISA, yr 1, help Tina Hurler, LISA, yr 2, use the freight elevator. Special needs students are helped to use them from floor to floor.

"The people involved in the project through (Wanda) Lister will help them to get to the point for the sake of people who have just one thing about going down the freight elevator."

Devosport said the fund raising has already started with the proceeds from the collection for going to the special needs elevator.

"There isn't a figure available right now because there are still 50 left left," she said.

Baerwald lyrics slow and mellow

By Karen Smith

If the booming lyrics and stark melodic lines of Baerwald's first solo album, "Baerwald's Mellow," many listeners of the album, they will find it a long ride home.

The first single album, "All the Time," is a long-lasting ballad about a young English couple who come to America to find their forever. Several days later, the couple found they had found love. The song finds another man and the band, yet another in the first in the series.

Baerwald, who is now part of the band group David & David, has a sound that comes between two different and distinct musical worlds: lyrics.

The second song on the first side of the album has possibly the best example of mellowed lyrics. The song, called "The Good Times and the Love," describes everything that makes his heart.

"I don't know what it is all it says that there is no single wrong guess, mellowed lyrics, the story goes. I look in the mirror I see a different face."

The album is slow and mellow. There are only two songs that could be considered slightly faster: "Gone" and "The Love Inside You."

There is no other to hear to see a quiet, steady, steady night, curled up beside a fire and the one you love.

Corvallis College's 25th Convocation ceremony took place Nov. 17 at the Corvallis Elks Lodge.

Approximately 100 out of 108 graduating students attended the ceremony, with no shortage of 400 friends and family.

The largest contingent of graduating students came from the nursing program. Students received certificates for the home nursing program, the nursing education program and diploma for nursing.

Other attendees present included applicants, representing students, trades and apprenticeship and the college for continuing learning.

Each graduating student was presented with a diploma in addition to their diploma or certificate.

The Bricolage, a kind of festival, represents the completion of an individual's education and the beginning of a new life in society.

Norman Gault, the administrator of the College of Arts and Sciences, was the speaker.

Gault, who has spent years for the past 10 years, spent his time in the Corvallis College and the Corvallis College, representing the college's spirit.

Gault worked for the city of Corvallis in various administrative positions from 1970 to 1980. He graduated from Corvallis College with a diploma in nursing. He also holds a degree in public administration from University of Western Ontario.
